Manhunt for hit and run suspect

By Steve Marschke

A five-year old boy was killed in an auto-bicycle accident on Maple St. Tuesday afternoon.

Brian V. Sim was bicycling at about 1:45 p.m. when he was struck by a van. The van did not stop after the accident, and the boy died at the scene. He was an Evergreen Ave. resident visiting in the Maple St. area.

The West Sacramento Police Department is looking for the van and its driver. The vehicle is described as a white 1972 Dodge van with a California license plate number of 09106M. The van has no side windows, but does have windows in the back.

Suspect Jack Griffin, 35, of Sacramento, was the subject of a manhunt Tuesday night.

Officer Dan Ruden said it was not yet possible to speculate on the cause of the accident.

"We got some conflicting stories," he said.

Ruden added that the van was not believed to have been stolen, and that the suspect was seen driving the vehicle some time after the accident.

Anyone with information is asked to call Ruden at 372-2461.

District hires firm to help claim new funds

By David Weller

The Washington Unified School District has decided to apply to the county to claim city redevelopment funds that have been set aside by state since 1992.

State law restricts the use of the funds to facilities related, one-time expenses, such as acquisition of school sites, school construction, reconstruction or refurbishment of buildings.

The district estimates that there is as much as $750,000 currently available in the state account for Washington Unified, and $250,000 in redevelopment funds available each year for the next 17 years.

"This is a real windfall, a godsend, for this district because we do have aging buildings in need of repair. There is now no bond money available from the state," said Assistant Superintendent Dr. Dennis Kelleher.

The school board decided unanimously Tuesday night to pay Public Economics Inc., a Sacramento based consulting firm, $3,500 to file an application with the Yolo County auditor/controller.

According to Kelleher, a representative from Public Economics called the district and asked if it was aware that the funds were available.

"None of the districts in the county knew about this, and now all the districts are benefitting. Since we made our inquiries and found the money was available, Woodland, Winters, Davis, and even the County Office of Education has discovered they can apply," Kelleher said.

He also said there is no question whether or not the state will release the money. "They'll do it. By law they have to. It's just a matter of applying for it.

Districts in El Dorado and Placer counties, as well as several other districts throughout the state are already taking advantage of the state redevelopment fund, according to Kelleher.

Council may shift money towards police, fire depts.

By Steve Marschke

After several years of recession and city budget cutbacks, city council member Roland Hensley has asked the city to look at the possibility of shifting some public money from the city's redevelopment agency to the city general fund -- where it can be used to help support police and fire coverage.

The request came at the Aug. 2 council meeting, and met with the support of Mayor Greg Potnick.

City staff will bring a staff report back to the council next month, said Hensley.

"I want to take some of that money they've been using to buy property (through the redevelopment agency) and put into the general fund, for things important to the public," he commented. "It should be used for public safety."

Hensley added that he would like to double the amount of tax increment the general fund now receives from redevelopment agency taxes. The general fund spends about $14 million per year, and supports the police department, fire department, parks and community services department, and parts of other programs. The redevelopment agency is expected to receive $6 million in income this year, and much of that will be targeted for debt service and projects involving public improvements.

'I want to take some of that money they've been using to buy property and put it into. . . things important to the public.'

Crocheted with care

Esther Stinchfield

By Steve Marschke

How do you keep scores of people warm with only one Afghan blanket?

84-year old Esther Stinchfield of Laurel Lane in West Sacramento has one suggestion.

Stinchfield has a hobby of crocheting, and has created a multicolored Afghan blanket "big enough for a double bed" which she is offering for sale to the highest bidder. She and her friend Arlene (who asked that her last name not be used) will then take the proceeds and buy new socks and underwear to be distributed to the needy at Christmas time.

"We would like to donate to the West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project," said Arlene, referring to the local network which involves many churches and civic groups and served over 800 local families last year.

Stinchfield, a great-great-grandmother, had a hard time estimating the number of hours she put into her Afghan.

"There's more than a hundred hours in it," she commented. "This particular one is solid -- it has no openings in it."

The pair estimated the hand-made Afghan's value at somewhere around $200.

Anyone interested may call Arlene, 371-2608.

Pear Fair Champs

Dance Vision Performing Troupe of West Sacramento won first place overall in this year's Pear Fair parade in Courtland. Following their success in the parade was the troupe's show, featuring its twenty members from ages seven to adult, under the direction of Laura MacDonald. Dance Vision's performances include tap, jazz, lyrical, singing and Hawaiian dancing. This summer they can still be seen at a variety of locations, including the California State Fair, Port Fest, Kid's Fest and "Get Your Act Together," a talent show they will sponsor in early September. City planners approve part of Port's 'Seaway' plan

By David Weller

The Planning Commission approved a tentative map for the Port of Sacramento's Seaway development plan Thursday night while putting off a decision on a development agreement until August 24.

Following the advice of staff, the commission agreed to put off considering the development agreement permit for three weeks in order to give the city and the port the chance to resolve a few remaining issues.

Matters still to be resolved include whether an on-site storm drain system can empty into Lake Washington, how the city will obtain right of way for the Palamidessi Bridge, whether rail users will need a conditional use permit, and whether the city will have to move some rail tracks.

tentative map and a development agreement for Seaway International Trade Center, a planned development of the Port of Sacramento.

The port development is planned for the 500 acres of port property between the proposed Southport Industrial Park and the Arlington Oaks neighborhood.

The subdivision map includes 275 acres for water related industries, 98 acres for a business park, 21 acres for light industrial uses, 40 acres for parks and recreation facilities, and 72 acres for open space.

"We are very hopeful that we will be ready to go before the commission with a mutually beneficial agreement on the 24th of August," said Community Development Director Steven Patek.

Methadone center at clinic won't require another permit

By David Weller

The planning commission decided Thursday night that the addition of methadone clinic services to the John H. Jones Community Clinic at Riverbend Market on Sacramento Avenue does not require an additional permit from the city.

Methadone treatment is used to relieve heroine withdrawal symptoms of addicts trying to quit. The non-profit clinic currently provides health services, including drug treatment services to people who cannot afford to get medical treatment elsewhere.

Clinic directors have estimated that 25-50 new clients would sign up for the program, which will provide 25 openings.

It's 5-0 in favor of new city anti-camping ordinance

By Steve Marschke

The West Sacramento City Council voted unanimously Aug. 2 to begin the adoption process for a new ordinance targeting unauthorized camping on local public and private lands.

Police Chief Larry Gore told the council that the new ordinance would make it easier for officers to disburse camps of homeless people, often nests of drug activities and health hazards. When visiting the camps, he said, people truly in need will be referred to social services agencies.

Gore told the council he had

A not-so-fond farewell to activist lawyer David Jones

My Front Pages

By Ray Cushing

Editor's Note: Ray Cushing is filling in while Daryl Fisher is on vacation.

So David Jones, attorney for Legal Services of Northern California, is leaving town to take a job as a special White House assistant.

I say, "Good riddance!"

According to news reports, Jones has done more than any single person to keep the city from using its most powerful tool—code enforcement—to shut down motels on West Capitol Avenue that are home base to prostitutes, parolees and drug dealers. His obstructionist talents should serve him well in Washington, where gridlock is a way of life.

I met Jones when he first came to town in 1988. He was a paid emissary for the Michael Dukakis campaign, sent here to collect a salary for organizing. I couldn't figure out what qualified him, at 26, to run the local Democratic campaign.

Now I'm older and wiser. In the intervening years I've seen young campaign "professionals" come and go. They get their paychecks whether their candidate wins or loses.

On the eve of his departure, what irks me most about David Jones is that he single-handedly managed to rob much of the promise that this city had when it was founded in 1987.

I moved here with my family in 1989. My wife and I bought a nice home in a nice part of town and figured the whores on the main street would be gone in a couple of years, as soon as the new city government got its bearings.

No such luck. At every turn, whenever the city tried to shut down motels that were being used for prostitution and drug dealing, Jones was there to threaten the city with legal action if it didn't replenish the stock of "affordable housing" that would be depleted by the closing of another rathole motel.

The other day I was picking up a pizza on West Capitol Avenue. As I got in my car I noticed, loitering nearby, an African-American gentleman with tattoos from chin to navel (his shirt was hanging open) having a conversation with a Caucasian woman in heavy makeup, a cheap sequined dress and high heels. Gee, I wonder what their relationship was? Duh!

I didn't see my first prostitute until I was 18, when I went to college in Mexico and encountered them in border towns like Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros. I found them rather pathetic, and tended to view them as victims. I see the whores of West Capitol Avenue the same way, but in this case they aren't the only victims.

The families of West Sacramento are also victims.

My 16-year-old son will be getting his license next month and when he goes out for pizza I'll have to worry that he may run into some meth-crazed pimp and not know how to handle the situation. David Jones, with his youthful idealism, won't have to worry about such things while he's lolling around the White House.

To me—a citizen who is sick and tired of seeing whores, pimps and parolees on the main street of our community—the solution seems so simple. Here's what the City Council should do:

Call the chief of police into the City Council chambers and tell him: "Prostitution is against the law. We don't want it on our main street anymore. We're giving you 90 days to clean up West Capitol Avenue."

If the police chief can't do the job, fire him and hire someone who can. Would we put up with a public works director who doesn't patch potholes? A parks director who doesn't keep the grass mowed? A fire chief who can't get fires put out?

Now that David Jones is gone, it's time for the City Council to declare war on the degenerates—and that's what they are—of West Capitol Avenue. If necessary, enlist some generals who know how to wage such a war. Code enforcement is a good approach; maybe with Jones gone we can use strict enforcement to scare the bejeesus out of motel owners who don't mind making a buck by befouling our community. Oakland used that technique successfully on some of its most blighted areas.

Have fun in Washington, David. We'll be busy here trying to deal with the city's most serious problems—the ones you made no effort to solve as you grandstanded again and again for "affordable housing."

Oh by the way, Dave. Your one-man crusade was very successful. The whores, pimps and meth dealers still have their affordable housing on West Capitol Avenue.

What to do with a guy climbing powerlines and wearing boxers

T.J. Smoot

Remember a few weeks back there was some guy who climbed a tower at Howe and LaRiveria? SMUD cut the electricity on all but one of the lines because it's the lone source of power to West Sacramento. How this was decided reveals how Thacatherans value us. Only a few know the real story behind this decision. A friend of mine knows somebody who's married to a friend of someone who heard how SMUD and the Thacather Fire Department decided not to cut the electricity to West Sacramento. The following is a true and accurate accounting of this (as far as I can tell, that is).

When Thacather Fire Chief, Bill, arrived at the scene, he was met by the SMUD Manager of Tower Squatters, Chet. They shook hands and leaned way back to look up at the citizen who was swinging from a crossbeam and screaming out a greeting in a French derivative. Bill scratched his head. Chet glanced at Bill and said, "We got us a situation, Bill."

"Yep." Bill said, rubbing his five o'clock shadow.

"I 'reckon we should cut power on this tower, Bill." Chet commented, squinting at the gymnast.

"Yep. I s'pose so, Chet."

"But..." Chet glanced at the gathering crowd, "...we can't cut power to all the lines 'cause that middle one is the only line to West Sacramento."

"Yep." Bill put on his yellow chief helmet.

"You know what this means, Bill."

"Yep." Bill replied.

"I'll go get the PCV." Chet instructed an aid to reroute all the power but the lone line to Yolo County. Then he turned and walked to his SMUDmobile. He opened the trunk and pulled open a portable file drawer labeled, "Power to City Value Charts." He thumbed his way to the end and mumbled, "Hmmm, West Modesto...West Puente Valley...West Sacramento." Bill arrived at the trunk. "Got it Bill. Now let's see." He opened the spiral bound chart, turned it to page one, and laid it down on the trunk lid so both could see.

"O.K," Chet stated matter of factly. "Here we go. I believe we got us a male, so we follow this flowchart here. Is he clothed or unclothed?"

Bill looked up. The newest Wallenda had already discarded his shirt and was just throwing down his pants. "All except his underwear." Bill said.

Chet queried, "O.K. Does he have on boxers or briefs?"

"Boxers." Bill spat out.

"O.K." Chet said under his breath, "Go to flowchart 7g, fill out form US1992 and send to MTV. Bill, is he overweight?"

Bill squinted at the man who was now wiggling from one of the deactivated lines. "I 'spose he could lose a few pounds, but Nah."

Chet slid his finger over an inch and asked, "Is he a blue or white collar worker?"

Bill said, "He threw down some jeans. Hmmm. I didn't see a tie." It's hard to tell from down here. He's got real long hair."

Chet didn't look up. "I'll say blue collar." Do you think he owns a business in Thacather?"

"I've never seen him before. I'd say no." Bill said confidently.

Chet then followed a line down the page, close to a conclusion. "O.K. Bill. I got an answer. We can't cut power to West Sacramento. Look." he pointed with his finger to some footnotes, "Wearing boxers could allow us to cut power and climb up there to save him. But since he doesn't own a business in Thacather, is a blue collar worker, and isn't overweight, we can't cut power. We gotta take our chances and keep the electricity on. That's what this chart says. Actually, I thought the boxer factor would've overridden everything." Chet mused. Bill leaned over and tried to read all the exceptions. "Who wrote this, anyway?"

Chet flipped the file over to the end where it was signed. "Looks like someone named 'Papa Joe Sterno.'"

Bill and Chet stared at each other blankly and said in unison, "Never heard of 'im."

SPORTS

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

It's official!! The Raiders owner Al Davis signed a deal to return the team from Los Angeles to Oakland. The deal could be voided if an $85 million Coliseum improvement project is not completed by the start of the 1996 season. The Raiders' first home game will be at the Oakland Coliseum at 1 p.m. against the St. Louis Rams, who relocated from L.A. earlier this year.

Can you believe it? No N.F.L. team in the Los Angeles area!!

The 49ers gear up to play the Chargers in San Diego on Sunday, Aug. 13, at 5 p.m. on TNT. The 49ers lost their second pre-season game to the Broncos in Tokyo. The Niners signed running back Marion Butts for the minimum salary ($178,000) plus performance incentives. Butts will battle Derek Loville, Ricky Ervins and Derrick Moore for the starting halfback position vacated by Ricky Watters.

The Giants (45-52) are still in last place, ten games behind the Colorado Rockies after splitting a four game series with the Dodgers. Nomo pitched a great game against the Giants, throwing a one hitter on Saturday. Just think, the Giants had first crack at signing the Japanese pitcher, but decided they couldn't gamble on paying $2 million on a pitcher who has never pitched in the big leagues. The Dodgers signed him and the rest is history! Look for the Major League scouts to sign a couple more Japanese pitchers for next season.

The A's (44-52) are just as bad as the Giants, trailing the Angels by 15 games and buried in last place. Mark McGwire came back to hit two home runs in one game, but then hurt his back again and is listed day-to-day. The A's big trade for Danny Tartabull took a turn for the worst as Tartabull injured his ribs and is out for 15 days!

The Sacramento Knights (10-2) remain in first place in the CISL Western Division. The Knights lost 9-8 at home to the Washington Warthogs in overtime last Thursday but rebounded on Saturday to beat Dallas 12-11.

The Knights' next two games are at home on Friday, Aug. 11 (7:00 p.m.) against the second place Portland Pride and Sunday, Aug. 13 (6:00 p.m.) against the Anaheim Splash. Lots of fun and good seats are still available.

See ya next week!!

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

City & legal group shouldn't always be enemies

More on David Jones the most hated man in West Sacramento, who doesn't even live here:

You may have already read the page-two column criticizing Mr. Jones for what some people consider to be his overzealous protection of blighted housing in West Sacramento.

The thing rarely said in the pro-Jones/anti-Jones debate is this:

Why haven't the city and Legal Services of Northern California (Jones' agency) worked together on their common interests, instead of waiting until a particular housing issue comes to a head and then squaring off in court?

Both parties share (or at least should share) an interest in upgrading the city's low-income, blighted housing. Why not work together towards this goal, pressuring landlords and finding ways to clean up seedy motels and run-down rental cottages? Why wait until the city gives up and has to condemn the place?

Why do we only see Legal Services of Northern California when the local low-income housing stock (often no more than motel rooms taken over by long-term occupants) is threatened?

Is the agency willing to help out on issues in which it shares an interest with the city?

Both parties should be actively involved in bringing rentals up to code and removing blight from local living conditions.

Because eventually, the city will target another Sutter House Motel -- where drug use abounds, hygiene is sub-human and the landlord is uncooperative. Like last time, the city will shut it down.

Do we have to wait until that day to hear from Legal Services of Northern California again, or is it willing to share the battle on behalf of tenants who don't face eviction, but who do face sub-standard living conditions?

Letters to the Editor

You've been victimized

Vandalism steals your tax dollars.

Last year, the West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Department spent $6,000.00 on vandalism in city parks. Your tax dollars paid to build and maintain those parks and now your hard earned cash is being spent to repair them. Unfortunately, a few can ruin it for the many, and I personally can think of better ways to spend $6,000.00 in West Sacramento than on vandalism and I am sure you can too.

If you live near or visit one of our city parks and notice someone doing something they shouldn't, remember, your hard earned money is going to be spent to fix the problem created by someone who just doesn't get it and doesn't care much about you, this city and the positive things in West Sacramento.

If you do notice someone vandalizing, please call Police Dispatch at 372-2044 or our department at 373-5860.

Let's put your tax dollars to more positive uses than useless vandalism. Together, as partners, we can solve the problem.

Your brother's keeper

I have only heard bits and pieces of the soundtrack of "Pocahantas," but I know it is beautiful. The message seems to be that all of God's creatures have inherited the earth; the land, the rivers and the trees do not "belong" to any one species. Most animals, birds, and flowers are allowed to dwell in their natural habitat. So how can it be that civilized man, who is supposed to have dominion over all, has no place to lay his head.

William Lowell recently wrote a very thoughtful letter listing concerns about the plight of the homeless. It's nice to read a constructive, rather than judgmental, approach to this terrible problem. Fully realizing that most people are sick and tired of hearing about the homeless and are now turning to the sports page, I still want to add a few more considerations to his list:

1) Most homeless people are not receiving SSI; some receive AFDC, some receive GA, some work for minimum wage, some receive unemployment benefits and some are penniless. State GA has recently been cut to $202.00 a month (Mr. Muse calls this "living in luxury"). When the Republican's draconian cuts in AFDC federal programs phase in next year, everyone (even a family of ten) will be cut off after two years. A large number of people will also be severed from SSI as new laws further restrict eligibility. The homeless population will explode.

2) Since our state has always operated with an accepted margin of at least an eight percent unemployment rate and thousands of well-educated and trained people are presently unable to find work, it is pure poppycock to assume that removing the safety net will magically motivate untrained people to find jobs. It may work in a rare state like Wisconsin with virtually no unemployment but it is unrealistic for most of the nation.

3) Until that wonderful day when we have a national employment system where every man and woman who wants a job can readily find one, we really have no efficient way to separate out the pikers. Treating everyone (single mothers with no child care, older people and the handicapped) who can't find a job as slackers will only dramatically increase homelessness.

4) Due to years of inflation, the basic necessities of rent, food and utilities are sky high. At present, many people working for minimum wage or receiving aid cannot save up enough money to pay first and last month's rent and the security deposit required to move into a rental. It usually takes at least $1,000 to get a foot in the door.

5) If a family can manage to scrape up the money, a landlord can legally deny any applicant who does not meet specific income standards, has a bad credit rating or a previous eviction. In this computer age, one quick phone call makes all that information instantly available, so many homeless have lost hope in getting a second chance.

6) There is a severe shortage of affordable housing (only 1/3 of the need is being met) and every low-income housing program has hundreds on the waiting list.

7) Most homeless people are not big time criminals. If they were, the illicit profits from stealing or drug dealing would pay the rent. It we pass laws that unjustly treat people as if they are morally corrupt just because they are poor, we might as well turn back time and reopen Debtor's Prisons.

8) More than 1/3 of homeless are mentally ill. What if we treated cancer or stroke victims as outcasts because they are afflicted with a dreaded disease. The lack of health care for the mentally ill is a national disgrace.

We can't just keep pushing people back and forth across city limits (with or without vouchers). Sooner or later, large areas set up with tents, toilets and cooking facilities (similar to federal disaster units set up for earthquakes) will probably because an absolute necessity unless we are willing to let children die from exposure.

The real question is -- what escalation of suffering will finally force us to face the grim realities. Most of the problems above could be solved with a shift in national priorities from amassing riches for the few to developing the potential of the many (i.e., education, job training). But it will require setting aside personal greed and sharing resources. Dare I use that dreaded word -- a more "socialistic" approach with a fairer distribution of wealth.

Perhaps Capitalism (as we know it) in the U.S. will have to ultimately fail as Communism did in the U.S.S.R. We already see class warfare erupting into violence as ghetto riots, fires and militia terrorism (many militia members are bitter older men who have been prematurely pushed out of the job market). Philosophies aside, with Communism and Capitalism (as defined economic systems) at opposite ends of the spectrum, we need to seek the middle ground.

But thanks to the goodness of God, even if we try, we cannot abandon each other. Created as one in the Spirit, looking into the eyes of a fellow man in need, we see ourselves. Even our snug little nest becomes a tender trap because our contentment is marred by knowing others are sleeping under the bridge. In our heart of hearts, we know we are failing each other. That uncomfortable feeling is God's reminding us that we are "our brothers keeper" and there can be no peace for one until there is peace for all.

P.S. Mr. Muse, do you actually believe eliminating affirmative action will create a color-blind society? Fiddlesticks!

Fat?
Sick and Tired?

So was I. Overweight, suffering from chronic fatigue, experiencing hair loss, anxiety resulting in heart palpitations, and poor diet attached to a high stress work environment, blah, blah, blah. . . (Sound familiar?)

Well, today I have lost over 50 lbs., I weigh what I did as a high school junior nearly 18 years ago, the hair loss has stopped, the heart problems have ceased, my diet has greatly improved, and I no longer experience the high stress in virtually the same line of business.

This may not work for everyone, but if you want to know how to get off the track to a short life-span and one that may add years to a more productive and healthier life, simply call (800) 836-9180. I will send you a free tape, and personally return your call.

I wouldn't be offering this product to you if I hadn't used it for over 1 1/2 years and believed in it myself.

A sinking port

The Port of Sacramento is a financially sinking ship and Port Manager John Sulpizio knows it. Businesses and residents of Sacramento and Yolo Counties are not willing to sink another $10 million into the Port via new assessments. At the August 2 West Sacramento City Council meeting, past mayor Cindy Tuttle spoke of "re-chartering" the Port with the financial authority and responsibility eventually passing to West Sacramento, where the Port is located. While shaking some papers in hand, Mrs. Tuttle emphasized the importance of the August 3 West Sacramento Planning Commission meeting.

But this writer attended the latter meeting and nothing on the agenda suggested "re-chartering." Quite the contrary. Three of the four specific agenda items were "public hearing agreements" in which the Port was seeking all kinds of "protection from future actions against the Port." Mr. Sulpizio wants "bottom-line protection" from the City, thus leaving major risks on the City's back. (Should we set up "bottom-line protection" accounts?) And the Port seems intent on removing the protection Lake Washington provides Southporters from the surges of industrial wastewater -- makes the potentially surging land worth more, huh?

Two of the three Port items were okayed and Item #4 was rescheduled to a special meeting on August 24, 6:00 p.m., City Hall, along with "the trucking issue."

Planning Commission's approval of items by the Port suggests the Port is aggressively avoiding re-chartering and wants to expand, including the noise and pollution adverse to nearby residents.

Could the Port be exercising a veto power and delaying/preventing the Industrial Bridge from becoming a reality sooner? If so, we should play hardball and try to get the 80 percent federal funding for the Industrial Bridge to (for) another bridge across the Sacramento River at a location agreeable to both sides. And maybe Mr. Frank Ramos or Mr. Buzz Oates should offer Mr. Sulpizio an enticing job and emphasize that once Southport gets another bridge (and widening of Jefferson Blvd.'s bridge at Stone Blvd.), many jobs will open up for workers from both sides of the river -- including more for those who fear re-chartering of the Port. Maintain the status quo or progress, folks?

Watch that sugar!

The public should be warned that going on a non-fat diet is extremely dangerous. If a person doesn't eat fat what are they going to eat? Most likely sugar. Look at the new food labels:

Non-fat salad dressings are at least 50 percent sugar; breakfast cereals are as much as 70 percent sugar; non-fat milk is 53 percent sugar -- milk sugar -- lactose; sugar is added to nearly everything -- canned fruit which has natural sugar has added cane sugar; most candies are of course close to 100 percent sugar; fat-free cookies or cakes are almost 70 percent sugar; non-diet soft drinks are 100 percent sugar; meats such as shredded pork are 50 percent sugar; baked beans are over 30 percent sugar; dried fruit is almost pure sugar; canned peas are 40 percent sugar; fat-free ice cream is 62 percent pure sugar.

It's not hard for a person on a fat-free diet to have a diet that is 70-90 percent sugar. This will lead in a short time to heart disease or diabetes or other diseases.

Vote 'em out

Did you know that if one buys a lot and builds a house today there is about $35,000.00 in fees for sewer, water and schools, etc. Fees of this type are a new thing that has been building up for the last ten years. The homes built in Bryte, Broderick and West Sacramento five or ten years ago paid none of these fees. Taxes and bond issues paid for the services. This new approach may be necessary but it can be run into the ground. If anything can be run into the ground the three majority will do just that. Remember the straw that broke the camel's back? Developers of subdivisions must contribute a certain amount of money, to the Redevelopment Agency, to build low-income housing or build it themselves, this is passed on to the new buyer. The city council has decided that this will also apply to the individual who wants to build a home, and to the homeowner who wants to enlarge his existing home. I think this guy would be better off spending his money to build a better fence of buy a new sofa. The young family decides to buy a lot and build a home is faced with the base $35,000.00 in fees and now, an additional $4,600.00 for redevelopment fees and all this is before they buy the land and the wood. Is this wise? What is the point of remodeling your existing home? Maybe it would be better to buy a new home in another city. Let's try to keep our good citizens. The more road blocks that are put in the way of progress, the less progress you are going to make. Why should this young family and the guy who wants to remodel take over city-wide redevelopment responsibility, just because he is just one vote and an easier target to gouge.

The other night I turned on channel 21, it was time for the city council meeting. Well, I guess there was still a little blood left in the turnip because they went after West Capitol Ave. (the most depressed street in the area), and the other commercial and industrial lighting and landscaping districts. They raised these assessments collected an extra $15,000.00 bucks; added it to the $20,000.00 (I don't know who they took that from), put it in the general fund and assigned it to pay for commissar to handle tenant complaints. What about the landlord? He sacrifices his time, his money and does without to buy property; he generates sales tax, property tax and room tax. He rents the property and the tenant does not pay so the city helps the guy who won't pay his bill. There are many people who rent apartments and rooms on West Capitol. Then the property owner on West Capitol is overcharged for landscaping (that does not help the property owner much) then the city takes the money to subsidize people that don't want to pay their rent.

Did you know that 20 percent of all the property tax money we collect goes to the redevelopment fund? This means to me that the city has to collect 20 percent more than it needs to run the city in order to give the council and the redevelopment agency walking around money.

The proposed location for the Cheaper Store is only two blocks from my house. This store might be offensive to some people but I think it's a good idea. It has been 20 years since a commercial building was built in Southport (I know because I built the last building. Grays Repair Shop behind the Goose Club). It is time we build something. The people from Cheaper have addressed all the issues. They have done the studies, they have agreed to close at midnight and most of all, they are willing to put their money and reputation on the line. I would like to be able to run down the block and pick up my milk, bread and my gasoline. I also would not mind getting a bottle of wine. I think once the store is built the people in Southport will appreciate this additional connivance. I went to the Cheaper Store in Woodland and it is very nice. Joe Muse could even go there to buy his socks. High class people will make it a high class store and I think the good people of West Sacramento are high class. We need that sales tax and we need the increased property tax. Let's bring some money into the town in a logical way. Let's not drive people out. I don't want to discourage any business that meets all the city standards from coming and doing business in West Sacramento. I do have some reservation about the paper plant. I think maybe it is too big for our little town. I have friends in Vancouver, Canada, and they are very unhappy about the paper plant near their home. I would rather stay will smaller stuff that would not place all our eggs in one basket.

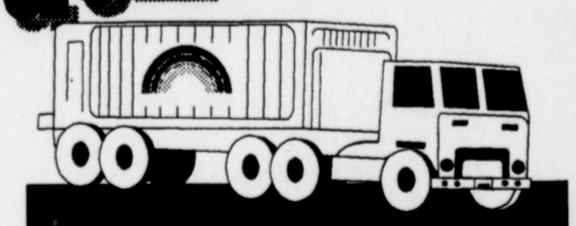

In the pamphlet in your utility bill, the city is discussing a new way to charge for the police and other services. The city and their finance director are so creative; the nuts and bolts do not get taken care of but the dreamers are dreaming ways to take your money. The way it works is they will leave the homeowner alone so the average citizen says, "It does not affect me; it is a good idea. It won't cost me anything; let them do what they want." Well, before you go along with this, stop and think. If the grocery store or the bank gets robbed, they call the police and then the city will charge them for writing the report. But who really pays this fee? The business man, or the people he does business with? It must be passed on. The city gets its extra money and business passes it on and becomes the bad guy. The only way to get the extra money needed to run the city is to allow and encourage enterprise and new business to come to our city. Progress is the answer; not disguising the cost and who pays. It is always the consumer who pays the bill. There is no free lunch. If you give one consumer (citizen) a break it must be paid for by another consumer (citizen). The game can be played in no other way.

(Trust me) Since I started writing these letters I have talked to many business people I have known for years. The

'Please return radio'

By Steve Marschke

A radio system was stolen from a West Sacramento Fire Dept. engine performing public service duties at a church festival last week.

"Someone stole the radio out of the rig at Holy Cross Church," said Chief Frederic Postel. "To replace it would cost about $2,000."

A fire department press release said the radio only has about five hours worth of power, and must be recharged on a special charger, so that it "is of no use to anyone except the West Sacramento Fire Department."

The department promises no questions will be asked if the Motorola portable radio is returned to a West Sacramento fire station, the department's administration offices, to a police office.

Police log

Aug. 1, 3:25 a.m.

Police at the Port of Sacramento detained a 31-year old West Sacramento man for trespassing, then noticed he was carrying a cutting tool (a coping saw) in a box, and found 68 feet of copper wire under the suspect's vehicle. City police arrested the man for trespassing, possession of burglary tools and petty theft. The suspect was issued a "Notice to Appear" and then released.

Aug. 2, 5:10 p.m.

An officer stopped a vehicle with a broken tail light near West Capitol and Walnut. The vehicle was towed. Officers found a box of cigarettes inside containing tar heroin wrapped in a napkin. A passenger was booked.

Aug. 3, 2:10 a.m.

A man said he was stabbed at a South River Road location by a 31 year old male suspect when he refused to give the suspect money. The victim was injured in one hand.

Aug. 3, 2:45 a.m.

A 26 year old man was stopped at West Capitol and Jefferson because his vehicle's registration tags had expired. The man was in possession of methamphetamines, scales, an electronic book of contacts, and four $100 bills. The man was arrested on drug charges and cited for the vehicle code violations.

Aug. 5, 6:42 p.m.

A 21-year old man was arrested at an Anna St. church faire because he was an escaped prisoner. He had a fake identification but fingerprints and other information provided an ID match.

Aug. 6, 8 a.m.

A 21-year old West Sacramento man was arrested at his home for a 2 a.m. robbery at a West Capitol Ave. convenience store. A previous booking photo was found to match the image on a store's video security system. During the theft, several suspects entered the store and distracted a clerk by throwing merchandise. The store's cash register was stolen without weapons or threats.

Aug. 6, 12:26 a.m.

A young male suspect took a handful of candy from a Sacramento Ave. gas station/market and fled on foot towards local apartments.

Aug. 6, 11:04 p.m.

A pizza delivery man was robbed in front of a residence while making a delivery. He told police he knew where the residence was where the suspects had emerged from.

Aug. 7, 1:38 p.m.

Tools valued at $250 stolen from a vehicle parked on Alabama Ave. A burglar got into a side window of the vehicle.

Aug. 7, 3:29 p.m.

A male and female in a pickup truck were seen injecting drugs with a syringe. The witness described it as an ongoing problem with the vehicle's occupants at that location.

Aug. 7, 3:54 p.m.

A self-inflicted gun wound to the thigh was reported on Maryland Ct.

Aug. 7, 11:24 p.m.

A "be on the lookout" was issued for a 22 year old white male in a pickup truck who had been asking people near Halyard Dr. if they had a gun he could buy for $100.

SHORT STORIES

BEYOND TELLING
Jewel Mogan
Ontario Review. 173 pages.
These stories are truly fiction from the heartland. A lonely school teacher who falls in love with a disc jockey and a pair of interracial lovers in a Louisiana nursing home are among the creations of this Lubbock writer.

DRUGS

THE RETURN OF THE DANGEROUS CLASSES: Drug Prohibition & Policy Politics
Diana R. Gordon
Norton. 316 pages.
By creating an "enemy class" for politicians to rail against, drug prohibition has done as much to impoverish our community as the drug problem itself, says the author of this gutsy take on a tired subject. With nearly 100 pages of notes and bibliography, Gordon offers more support for her argument than those who habitually portray casual drug users as the number one scourge of society.

FICTION

A LONELY DEVIL
Sousa Jamba
Fourth Estate. 154 pages.
This steamy novella features a young man torn between unholy alliances in a strife-ridden Third World nation. The author is an award-winning Angolan.

A special kind of show

Tune in to the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce radio show "Kaleidoscope" today and listen to Al Neighorn of Esperanza Enterprises tell of his experience in launching a special kind of television station that focuses on positive contributions made in the West Yolo community and is accessible to both English and Spanish speaking viewers. NTV can be found on Cable Channel 11 by subscribers to Western Cable in the Esparto area.

Mr. Neighorn will be interviewed by radio show host Lane Shapiro between 12:05 and 1 p.m. on radio KJAY, 1430 AM. The program broadcasts live from Johnnie's Sidewalk Pizza, 1301 Merkley Avenue, West Sacramento.

Next week on August 16, Karen Shill of the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce will be the featured guest on "Kaleidoscope," discussing the annual barbecue at the Fritz Reamer Ranch.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF OSWALD PAUL TEXEL

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Oswald Paul Texel:

A PETITION has been filed by Douglas A. Kaplan, Public Administrator, in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION requests that Douglas A. Kaplan, Public Administrator, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will follow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on September 8, 1995 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. Four, Room 200, located at 725 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for petitioner:

NOTICE OF HEARING AUGUST 24, 1995

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider the following matters on Thursday, August 24, 1995, in the City Council Chambers located at 2101 Stone Boulevard, West Sacramento, California, at the times as specified or as soon thereafter as the matters may be heard:

6:00 p.m.
Item #1
Zoning Administrator Actions
NONE
Item #2
Port of Sacramento Development Agreement

Continued consideration of an Agreement between the Port of Sacramento and the City implementing the Seaway International Trade Center project. (APN: 45-020-02 & 03; 45-030-01, 02 & 04; 45-190-01 & 02; a portion of 45-010-17, 45-100-02, 07 & 09; 67-110-04 and 67-180-09). The property is zoned M-3 PD; M-1 PD; BP PD; POS; and RP. A Mitigated Negative Declaration was circulated for this project. APPLICANT/OWNER: Port of Sacramento, Sacramento-Yolo Port District, P.O. Box 980070, West Sacramento, California, 95691. (MW)

Item #3
Public Workshop - Truck Terminals

The Chamber of Commerce and the trucking industry have requested that the City re-examine the current General Plan Policy and Zoning Standards regarding truck terminals. These interests want the City to (1) eliminate the clause in the policy that prohibits the establishment of new terminals east of I-80; (2) amend the current policy and Zoning Ordinance so that existing truck terminals will be allowed to expand; and (3) allow truck terminals as a permitted use in the M-2 (Heavy Industrial) and M-3 (Waterfront Commercial) zones. An issue paper has been prepared in response to this request and attempts to identify the issues regarding the current General Plan Policy and Zoning Standards. (SW)

Copies of the applications, legal descriptions, and environmental documents are on file in the office of the City of West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1951 South River Road, West Sacramento, California 95691.

All affected parties should appear and explain to the Commission the effect that the proposed projects will have on their property and to state any other relevant information. If you challenge any of the noticed items in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City of West Sacramento at, or prior to, the public hearing.

/s/Stephen M. Patek, Director
Community Development Department

business people are afraid to move. What I hear is very simple, they are afraid of the city commissars. They know if they try to do anything the city rulers will make them do things that will make the cost ten times what it should be. There is no trust of the controlling three, only fear. The average person that lives in a house just does not realize the hassle, expense and grief bureaucracy under incompetent leadership can cause. We must have change. The controlling three are more thrilled with power than the benefit of progress. The businessman is like sardines in a can, if he feels he cannot move the city won't move. For eight years, these people have been playing with our future. Take away their power. Elect some sensible people. Our little city has every reason to bloom and prosper.

heard little public comment on the ordinance.

The only piece of written comment he had received, Gore said, was a letter in support of the new ordinance written by the West Sacramento Motel/Hotel Association.

The city council will continue the adoption process for the ordinance at tonight's meeting.

Let The Good Times Roll.

While you're rolling along in the summer sun, your Honda is working up a sweat. To keep things from getting too hot under the hood, ask your Honda dealer to "summerize" your Honda. Our factory-trained technicians use only Genuine Honda Parts. And they service your Honda so temperatures won't be too much to handle, no matter how hard you play. See your Honda dealer before heading out on vacation and keep the good times rolling all summer long.
